BANDITS FORCE PEOPLE TO LIVE IN BLOCKHOUSES

Villagers In West China Adopt Methods Of American Pioneers

GUNS IN LOOPHOLES

Whole Community Takes Refuge In "Fort" During Night

(China Press Correspondence)

Hinghwa, April 22.—The Northern troops are in undisputed possession of Sienyu County and the bandits have retired westward. It is common report that Yungchun, Tehwa and Tatien counties will next be subdued. Yungchun County is enjoying peaceful government under Bandit King, the road-builder but the counties of Tatien and Tehwa are in a most deplorable condition as reported by a member of the Methodist Mission who has completed a trip covering that section.

Tatien County covers a very mountainous section of Fukien making it a good retreat for bandits. For several years now the bandits have held almost undisputed control of the region. There have been Southern troops at times occupying the County seat and one or two other centers but they have not been able to handle the situation. The villages in desperation have tried to organise local militia but in most cases the militia instituted methods little different from those of the bandits. Levies are made upon the villagers and they are forced to buy old worn out muskets at huge prices. Upon the approach of the robbers the militia flees to the hills for refuge, whereupon the village is plundered and the houses burned. The last measure is usually in retaliation for having resisted and to terrorise the countryside so others will not resist.

Another measure of defense is the building of large fort-like houses. Some of these are built by the village large enough to give refuge to the entire village together with the live stock and their most valuable possessions. Others are built by clans or large families. These block houses crown almost every imminence in the County. It is interesting to note that there are various types of these places of refuge denoting at least three periods of disturbance. One type, now chiefly in ruins, was built during a period of disturbance over three hundred years ago when the weapons of warfare were chiefly spears swords and bows and arrows. Another type was constructed during the Taiping rebellion Some of these are in such condition that they can be easily repaired and occupied. However in most places another type is appearing. They are usually three stories high and in places where they can defend themselves from gunfire. A single entrance closed by a heavy door and easily defended from loop-holes in an overhanging projection above leads into the building. At night the villagers withdraw into this fortress taking their possessions with them. During the day they go out to carry on their work but are ready on short notice to take refuge in their fort.

However all the measures they are able to make are not wholly effective. Gradually the country has been devastated and reduced to a ruin. It will take a generation or more to replace the wealth that has been destroyed there in the past three years.

Nationalist Leader Causes Stir In Egypt

(Reuter's Service)

Cairo, April 26.—A new political situation, fraught with very serious difficulties, has arisen owing to the Nationalist leader Zaghloul Pasha, challenging the Ministry by demanding the abolition of martial law and of the censorship, and that the leadership of the delegation to London be placed in his hands.

In a speech yesterday, Zaghloul Pasha asserted that his collaboration with the Prime Minister Adly Pasha, depended on the latter's acceptance of his conditions. The resignation of the Ministry may possibly result, thus involving the negotiations with Great Britain.

Gunboat Commander In Foreign Waters Appeals For Funds

CAPTAIN S. T. WANG, C. N.

Stranded in Vladivostok waters without funds, Captain S. T. Wang, in command of the Chinese Gunboat, Yung Chien, has addressed a length plea for financial help to the local Admiralty House.

The message states that not a penny has been received by him for his gunboat since the beginning of the year and that his officers and men had been placed in a serious predicament. He pointed out that as the men have no friends in the territory they were in, it was impossible even for them to borrow.

Captain Wang was attached to the local Admiralty House until August 1920. He was one of the most popular Chinese naval officers here before he took over charge of the vessel.

The monthly maintenance of the gunboat, according to officers of the Admiralty, is $20,000.

Admiral K. K. Lang, the Chief of the Admiralty, has referred the matter to the Ministry of Navy and has telegraphed a reply to Captain Wang, assuring him that his appeal is receiving immediate attention.

BRUTALITY OF TEUTONS TOWARD PRISONERS BARED

Trial At London Brings Out Shocking Accounts Of Ill Treatment

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 26.—Shocking stories of the ill-treatment of British soldiers at the hands of the Germans were related at Bow Street today by soldiers who were unable to attend the trials of war criminals in Germany whither the evidence will be sent. The court was crowded. Mr. Travers-Humphreys and Mr. Vernon Gattie represented the Crown and Herr Weisenberger represented the German Government. The first case dealt with the brutality of Muller, the commandant of the Flavedemartel camp where a thousand British prisoners were herded together in three floorless huts without bedding or sanitation. The rations were inadequate and there was not room for all of them to lie down. Five hundred of them contracted dysentery and the average death rate was six daily. Nevertheless they were driven to work with blows, the commandant riding his horse through their ranks and photographing men in the throes of dysentery.

A terrible disclosure was the statement that a man had been eaten to death by lice. There was no trace of skin on his chest which was a huge mass of crawling vermin that made even the German guards shudder at the sight.

AGITATION HERE OVER INCREASE IN PRICE OF RICE

Local Associations Petition Provincial Authorities To Stop Smuggling

PIRATES ALSO FEARED

Water Police Send Boats To Escort Craft Coming To Shanghai

The price of rice struck the $10 mark yesterday, bringing agitation among various of the local Chinese organisations and resulting in a shower of telegrams directed to the provincial authorities and calling for action on the smuggling and hoarding problem, to which the high prices are attributed.

One effect of the rise in cost of the cereal has been the taking of steps to prevent robbery of the rice boats on the Whangpoo, which bring the bulk of the city's supply. The chief of the Water Police for the First District has ordered four patrol boats into service as escorts for the craft bringing this cargo from Sungkiang and other up-river centers.

Members of the provincial assembly have taken the matter up and are petitioning the provincial chiefs to take steps to curtail the smuggling and hoarding of grain. One telegram, directed to the Tuchun and Civil Governor, calls for a stricter supervision of the coastal districts, with particular attention to be directed to rice shipments to Tsungming Island. Hitherto, it is declared, rice has been permitted to be shipped to Tsungming with little or no restriction in view of the fact that the district is not rice producing and depends upon Soochow and Changchow for its supply. Unscrupulous dealers, it is alleged, have taken advantage of this fact to dispatch large cargoes from such centers as Shupu and Fohsan, in Changshu and from Linho, Tongling and Tsihya, in Taichang, which cargoes, instead of being landed in Tsungming are carried abroad in junks.

The telegram proposed that the assembly petition the Civil Governor to send representatives to Taichang and Changshu to confer with the city magistrates and the likin station officials for the purpose of adopting measures for a stricter search and observation of rice carrying craft.

Collusion in profiteering on the part of the government military officials is cited as another reason for the jump in prices here. It was stated yesterday in Chinese informed circles that as an instance in this connection some 5,000 bags of rice had been contracted for and a part of the consignment had been shipped by a deputy of the Peking department of the Fengtien military district. The man is said to be named Pan and it is declared that cereal purchased by him was secured at a price fixed at $8.50 per picul.

Telegraphic advices to the Chinese officials here is to the effect that these transactions are under investigation by the officials at the capitol.

Langdon Buried At Boston Home With High Honors

Boston, March 24 (by mail).—The body of Lieutenant Warren H. Langdon, U.S.N., sent to his family here from distant Vladivostok, where he was killed by a Japanese sentry in January, was buried today at Forest Hills cemetery.

The Navy paid final honors to its dead through officers of equal rank who were the honorary pall bearers; non-commissioned officers, who constituted the body bearers; an escort of 150 blue-jackets, who followed behind the caisson, a band and a firing squad.

Fraternal brothers of St. John's Lodge of Freemasons followed their funeral ritual, and Rev. Merrill C. Ward of St. Paul's Universalist church, voiced the eulogy.

The relatives included Ensign Cecil G. Langdon, also of the Navy, who had accompanied the body of his brother across the Continent. The delegations present included one from the local post of the American Legion.

GOOD PROGRESS IN DISCUSSION ON PUBLIC UTILITIES

Conferences Between French Municipal Council And Tramways Progressing Favorably

ENDORSE OFFER MADE

Municipality Accepts In Principle Concessions Made By Company

Negotiations between the French Municipal Council and the Compagnie Francaise de Tramways, d Eclairage electrique et des Eaux are proceeding favorably, it is announced, and progress toward the solution of the public utilities problem in the Concession is being made at every meeting.

At the last conference Mr. L. Bridou, representative of the Tramway company, announced that the company's electric installations would finally be able to produce by the end of 1922, 4,950 k.w. He gave details of the supply.

Owing to the actual high cost of all materials, and in anticipation of the fall which it is felt must inevitably come, the Council consented—under reserve of a complete understanding with the company on all questions in dispute—to consider as current already installed that which is now supplied from the International Settlement.

In conclusion, the Council decided to agree in principle to the program submitted them by the company, as follows:

1.—4,950 k.w. to be installed for the winter of 1922.

2.—After this date, as soon as the maximum demand reaches 3,200 k.w., the French company agrees to present to the Council a new program of extensions according to the needs of the Concession.

With regard to the tramways, the Council, following the suggestion of Mr. Bridou, accepted the program of the company anticipating the acquisition of 5 electric cars and 5 trailers.

The new material will be ready for service in 1922.

After this date, the company is to arrange by mutual consent with the Council, the program of extension for the tramway service.

JAPAN'S LEAGUE ENVOY SURE OF GOODWILL IN U.S.

Baron Megata Reaches Tokio After Long Sojourn In England And America

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, April 26.—Baron Megata, one of the Japanese representatives at the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva last year, has returned to Tokio, coming through America.

In the course of an interview, Baron Megata said that notwithstanding the efforts to disparage it, the peace of the world depended upon the consummation of the League of Nations, with America, Russia and Germany included.

He was particularly impressed by the spirit of activity among the Western nations.

"Notwithstanding the sinister speculations regarding the possible outcome of the existing coal situation," he said, "there is not the least sign of national unrest in England.

"In America I was impressed by the evidences of goodwill and friendship shown everywhere towards the Japanese. Sensational publications in American newspapers on the subject of Japan are mostly the work of propagandists.

"The Japanese people" he continued, "should maintain a prudent and dignified attitude regarding the Yap and Shantung questions. The difficulties of settlement will unnecessarily be enhanced if undue excitement is stirred up.

"The anti-Japanese Yap and Shantung movements in America are largely due to the propaganda of those desiring to fish in troubled waters," said Baron Megata in conclusion.

Practically every large store in the city has hired a caretaker to watch over the children. When you leave your baby with him he hands you a check. The Unexpurgated Diary Of A Shanghai Baby

By Elsie McCormick

APRIL twenty-fourth—Sunday. sat on floor in living room and heard family talk about next-door automobile. "I wish we had a car," said mama, looking out window.

"Why?" asked papa. "We don't know anybody in Woosung."

"There are plenty of places to go besides Woosung," said mama.

"No place that I know except the Rubicon," said papa, "and I've been around that so many times that I don't wonder Julius Caesar got impatient and crossed it instead."

"It isn't so much a question of where you can go as the impression a motor car makes on members of the community," mama answered.

Papa said yes, that most cars did make impressions on members of the community, but they were usually made on Chinese members that didn't jump fast enough.

Mama picked up fashion-paper and turned leaves with rattle.

APRIL twenty-seventh—later—Had pleasant nap upstairs, but woke up later and saw coolie trying on mama's new spring hat before mirror. I'd just like to catch him putting on my bonnet!

APRIL twenty-fifth—Went out calling on amah's third cousin who lives on little street near Nanzing Road. Perfumes very unusual. Not a bit like mama's talcum. Don't remember much of visit, as went to sleep on bed with Chinese baby getting over mumps. Later amah let me drink tea from her cup and gave me piece of fried dumpling. Pleasant morning.

APRIL twenty-sixth—Nobody paying any attention to me today. Everybody getting ready for taipan's dinner. Amah busy making red paper frills. Mama busy making place cards. Cook busy making menu. Auntie busy making plexion. Houseboy busy making trouble. Hope they don't forget my chow.

APRIL twenty-sixth—later—Papa came home to tiffin and brought fresh lettuce.

"It's perfectly safe," he said. "One of the men in the office grew it in his own garden."

"I'm so glad," said mama. "I'm as hungry for lettuce as a rabbit. I'll send it right down to the cook to get ready for tonight."

Sat in kitchen later while amah tried on Paris garters she had found in papa's bureau drawer. Had interesting time watching cook blow mouthfuls of water on sanitary lettuce to keep it fresh.

APRIL twenty-sixth—Still sitting in living-room. Family forgot to have me put to bed. Table all ready for taipan's party. Mama called downstairs to papa and asked him what he was doing.

"Reading a love-story in the Municipal Gazette," said papa. "Can't I sit down for five minutes without giving an account of myself?"

"Go in the dining-room and compare the place-cards with the initials on the knives and forks," said mama. "The houseboy borrowed from all over so as not to have dish-washing between courses and I want to make sure that nobody gets his own silver."

Mama said later that she had decided upon everything except the person who was to sit on papa's left.

"Well, don't go and pick out a century-plant," said papa, taking salted peanut from red paper dish. "The last one you put me next to remembered the inauguration of Halley's Comet.

Squalled at this point and was taken upstairs, but couldn't sleep anyway on account of noise. Heard papa ask mama what had become of his pearl studs.

"I gave them to the baby for cough-drops," said mama, with unpleasant look in voice. Papa said all right, that she didn't need to tell him if she didn't want to, but if he didn't find them he would wear my safety-pins.

APRIL twenty-sixth — last bulletin—Papa wondering if taipan would wear evening suit or dinner coat. "If he wears a dress suit, I don't want to show up in a dinner coat, and if he comes in a dinner coat, I don't want to put something over on him by wearing an evening suit," said papa. Mama said he might send the houseboy over to ask taipan's houseboy what his master was putting on.

"I'm afraid he'd tip it off to the taipan," said papa. Mama said she didn't think so, and that anyway the Orientals have a grand reputation for diplomacy. Houseboy went, but came back pretty soon. Told papa that other master sent compliments and said he would wear evening dress and that his wife was going to wear low-necked purple gown with pearl necklace. Did not catch papa's remark, but heard shoe falling downstairs after houseboy.

Sometime when I am not too tired I will get even with family by squalling all night.

U.S. Will Seek Cable To Far East

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, April 23.—While the distribution of the ex-German cables in the Pacific will be deferred pending the settlement of the status of Yap, it is learned that the United States will make an effort to have cable communication to the East Indies and the Far East over the lines in the possession of the Japanese restored as soon as possible.

50 BILLION GOLD MARKS GERMANY'S NEW OFFER

Note To U.S. Says This Is The "Maximum Amount"

SMALL SUM 'DOWN'

Would Make First Payment Of 150,000,000 If Allies Will Agree

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, April 26.—The German note to America regarding reparations outlines the German proposals and emphasises that these are the maximum that Germany can offer.

The proposals include an offer to pay 50,000,000,000 gold marks at the present value for reparations. Germany is equally ready to pay the value of this sum in annuities adapted to her capacity for production up to a total of 200,000,000,000 gold marks. Germany proposes immediately to issue an international loan in which she would participate. The result of the loan would be placed at the disposal of the Allies, Germany to pay a portion of the sum not covered by the loan up to the limits of her capacity.

Germany further offers to allow the Allies to, participate in any improvement in her financial and economic situation and offers to co-operate in the reconstruction of the devastated regions supplying materials as far as is possible on purely economic lines and also to pay the Reparations Commission 1,000,000,000 gold marks in the following instalments: First, 150,000,000 in gold, silver and drafts and secondly 850,000,000 in bills of exchange upon the Treasury which would be paid within three months in drafts and foreign securities. Germany is also ready to take over within the limits of her capacity the Allied debts to the United States.

ASKS CANCELLATIONS

If these proposals are accepted, Germany demands the cancellation of all her other obligations in regard to reparations. Thus the private possessions of Germans abroad would be liberated. Germany considers that these proposals can only be accepted if the regime of penalties be ended, German production freed from restrictions and Germany admitted to the world's trade. She undertakes to recognise as binding the decisions of an international commission of experts upon her capacity to pay, and finally asks the United States to point out any desirable modification.

Washington, April 26.—At the invitation of the Secretary of State, Mr. Hughes, the Allied ambassadors held an informal discussion of the German note to America, at which Sir Auckland Geddes, M. Jusserand, Signor Ricci and Baron Shidehara expressed their views. It was indicated that the American reply to Germany would not be sent before the receipt here of the views of the Allied governments regarding the German proposals.

London, April 27.—London press comments on the new German offer dwell on its vagueness. The Times expresses the opinion that its adoption by the Allies in its present form is out of the question. The Daily Chronicle thinks the offer much less impossible than its predecessors. The Daily News considers the American Government unlikely to dismiss the terms as incapable of discussion, and that, though Germany perhaps ought and can be constrained to do better, the offer incomparably exceeds anything that France can extract by invading the Ruhr region.

A semi-official statement from Paris declares that the offer is quite unacceptable and entirely inadequate.

OPINION DIVIDED IN W. S.

American opinion is divided. While the New York Tribune characterises the new offer as only the London offer in another guise, and a bungling attempt to wreck the treaty, the New York World expresses the view that the offer deserves the most thorough consideration, and the New York Times declares that, striped of its conditions, the offer will almost certainly be seriously considered by the Allies.

Paris, April 26.—M. Briand today reported to the Chamber of Deputies that the conversations at Lympne had had the most satisfactory results and that he and Mr. Lloyd George were in absolute agreement in principle. He declared that Germany's failure to fulfil the Peace Treaty applied in every direction and that France had made all preparations to deal with the situation on the expiration of the time limit. France, he said, would resort to coercion because she was compelled to do so by the bad faith of her debtors.

M. Briand asked the Chamber for its entire confidence, after which the debate was adjourned, at the Government's request, by 424 votes to 29.

Buenos Aires, March 1 (by mail).—Four hundred German immigrants came to Argentina a few days ago to seek their fortunes anew on board the first passenger vessel flying the German flag which has entered this port since the beginning of the war. The majority of them were members of the former German middle-class, and about 80 were officers of the German army, but few are understood to have possessed any capital with which to start life afresh. Most of them were counting upon prompt employment to provide them with a livelihood.

The same vessel landed about 300 German immigrants in Brazil, and a smaller number in Uruguay. It is understood that this was the first of several steamers which are to bring contingents of German immigrants to these shores.

WOMAN IN CASF OF MAN CHARGED FOR MURDER PLOT

Allegations Against Accuser Of Chinese Charged With Attempt On Li

The one element lacking to make it a standardised murder case was provided yesterday when "the woman" was mentioned in the trial of Voong Ky-ming, Cantonese, charged with plotting the assassination of General Li Ying-zien, upon whose life an attempt was made at his Weihaiwei residence last December. The name of Dr. Sun Yat-sen also figured in the day's proceedings. The case is being heard in the Mixed Court by Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Yui.

The feminine angle in the case was introduced by Mr. P. M. Linebarger, counsel for the defendant, who stated that he hoped to show that the principal witness for the prosecution had attempted to alienate the affections of the wife of the accused, and that his failure had prompted him to make false charges against her husband. Another motive for his turning informer, the defense contends, was the payment of a reward by General Li. This, the prosecution denies was paid, but the defense disputes the point.

The informer, one Dih Sz-bah, was in the witness box yesterday afternoon and gave details of the formation and carrying out of the alleged plot against the former Tuchun of Szechuen, Messrs. J. Em. Lemiere and Ziar conducting the questioning for the prosecution.

Detective Sergeant Kiloh also gave testimony and it was during the course of this that the name of Sun Yat-sen came up. The officer testified to finding a number of pictures, letters and books on military tactics among the effects of the defendant and, among the former a picture of Sun. Mr. Linebarger inquired if the possession of such a picture were against the law, the witness agreeing that it was not.

"You have no warrant for Dr. Sun in this case, have you?" asked counsel.

"No. Not yet," replied the witness.

Counsel for the defense took exception to the remark and asked for an explanation of its significance. The witness afterward denying that he, as a police officer, took any interest in Chinese politics.

The case was again adjourned until this afternoon.

Municipal Orchestra Plays Tschaikowsky Concert Sunday

Mr. I. Gillersberg

A special feature of next Sunday's concert by the Municipal Orchestra will be an all-Tschaikowsky program with the assistance of two artists, Mr. Gillersberg, pianist and Mr. Stupin, cellist.

Signor Molinari

IN my early student days when I attended concerts and detected flaws my pleasure in the whole program was marred but experience taught me (as doubtless it has taught all of us) that there can be no such thing as a perfect musical program.

Criticisms are of two kinds—destructive and constructive, and it is with a friendly hand that these remarks are penned.

The occasion of the operatic concert given last evening at the Olympic Theater with Signor Molinari and Signora Molinari as principals and Professor Harry Ore at the piano, calls for a measure of constructive criticism.

Signor Molinari has been compared to Signor Caruso and his superb natural ability, tone placing, and range would justify the comparison. But he lacks Caruso's wonderful artistic judgment in restraining the use of his full voice. He lacks the repose and delicacy of expression that characterises with such distinctive force, the interpretations of the master tenor.

I was electrified, as also were others of the audience when Signor Molinari sang tal mezzo voce. This timbre he used far too infrequently, devoting himself almost exclusively to the use of very robust tones, fitted far better for a larger auditorium than was presented in the Olympic Theater.

None the less he rose to heights of tuneful and dramatic expression in "Il flor che avvevia me gittano" (Carmen) and later in the Traviata duet "Libiamo." His rendition of the ever-popular "La Donna Mobile," from Rigoletto, also marked him as a dramatic tenor of wealth of tone and expression. Would that we could hear more of his calibre in Shanghai!

Signor Molinari's future in the capitals of the West is assured if only his great natural gifts are developed and ripened. Sensational success will be his if his development is with a view to tone quality rather than to robust and too vigorous expression.

Signora Molinari sings with dignity and ably assisted her talented husband. After her first nervousness had passed her high tones were excellent and she used the mezzo voce with much charm. Particularly was this marked in The Waters of Minnetonka and Caro Nome. Her delightful tones were greatly appreciated.

Shanghai is to be congratulated upon having in its midst—and Shanghai realises that he is leaving too soon—so talented a pianist as Professor Harry Ore. He had nigh perfect technique, repose of manner and a polished style. His "singing tone" was particularly noticeable in Greig's "Ballade" last night.

In fine, the program was pretentious and a musical feast to those fortunate enough to hear it. Shanghai has room to spare at all times when artists of the calibre of Molinari give us of their best, as was the case last night. It is to be regretted that we can not hear him again.

Shanghai music lovers, it is understood, are indebted to a couple of public spirited citizens for last night's entertainment and their confidence in the benefit to be gained by he concert was more than justified.

SHIPS COLLISION PUZZLE ARGUMENT CLOSES IN COURT

Boats That Crashed At Sea Each Claim To Have Been At Anchor

Arguments were concluded yesterday in the British Supreme Court before Judge Skinner Turner in the case of Cheng Pen Cheng versus the Nancy Moller Steamship company, after the taking of lengthy evidence in adjourned hearings extending over a month. Judgment was reserved.

This is the case in which the plaintiff in his statement of claim and the defendant in his reply each stated that their respective ships were lying at anchor one half mile apart off Taku Bar waiting for a convenient tide by which to proceed to Tientsin, when the other vessel, with no proper lookout or display of lights, or heed to warnings bore down and caused a collision. The claim of the plaintiff was for Yen 19,915 and $8,775.

Much technical evidence was given and Captain Hartford of the British gunboat Kinsha sat with Judge Turner during the hearing as expert adviser.

Both Mr. R. Evans of Tientsin, counsel for the plaintiff, and Mr. S. H. McKean for the defendants, in presenting their sides of the case, while maintaining the correctness of their clients statements, have sought for an explanation of the accident.

Tides swifter than expected, drifting, anchor dragging, and optical illusions, where the officers and crew of one boat, drifting with the current, believed that the other was bearing down on them, were suggested during the trial.

The case has attracted much interest among nautical men.

Mixed Court Jottings

V. Seldjen, a Russian, was fined $5 in the Mixed Court yesterday for keeping a dog without having taken out a license.

A coolie originally brought up on a larceny charge was further charged yesterday with having been one of a gang of eight men who committed an armed robbery in the Yangtszepoo district, off Pingliang Road, on the 15th. The case was remanded for one week.

Tsang Ong-sung, brought into court yesterday, showed a sad lack of judgment when he allowed himself to be caught prowling about the premises at 2B Peking Road, the premises in question being those of British Assessor Hutchison. His lapse in perspicacity was all the more awkward for him in that he had broken into the same establishment no longer ago than last Friday, when he stole some of the cook's personal property. He admitted this charge and was found guilty, sentence being suspended until next week in order to permit the police to look up his record.

PSYCHIC SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING; ELECTS OFFICERS

Fundamentals Of Research Discussed In Secretary Horne's Speech

The second meeting of the Shanghai Society for Psychical Research was held at the Palace Hotel last evening, with a good number present. The officers of the new organisation are as follows:

President—E. H. Booth.
Secretary—A. Horne.
Treasurer—H. Bland.

A librarian is among the Society's officers and books on psychic subjects may be obtained at all meetings, which will be held weekly on Wednesdays, time and place to be announced later. All interested are invited to join the Society. Monthly dues are $1.00.

The secretary, Mr. Horne, gave the address of the evening on "Fundamentals of Psychical Research." The speaker stressed the importance of a thorough theoretical study of the subject before experimental work was taken up, since in order not to be deceived by false manifestations a back ground of psychology was necessary.

A common misunderstanding in regard to psychical research, said the speaker, is that it is a simple thing for spirits to communicate with this world, whereas there are mediumistic qualities in the other world as in this and a perception of the difficulties in the way of intercourse between the two worlds is necessary to effect a proper rapport.

Mr. Horne discussed clairvoyance, the doctrine of the subliminal self, telepathy and the like as explanations of spirit messages but asserted that after sifting out and dismissing messages obtained by these means a great residue of genuine psychical value remained.

Our Portrait is of Miss FLORRIE ORGAN, of 100, Clark Street, Ladywood, Birmingham, England, whose father writes:

"My daughter Florrie was suffering with a very bad head covered with Sores and Scabbies, and in fact her mother was afraid to comb her hair. She had been under several doctors, but all to no purpose, so I began to think she would never get well again and lose all her hair. As your 'Clarke's Blood Mixture' cured me of Glandular Swellings in the Neck some years ago, and so averted my having to undergo an operation, I decided to give 'Clarke's Blood Mixture' a fair trial in the case of my daughter, and I am pleased to say it effected a wonderful cure in just over a fortnight."

SUFFERERS from Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Glandular Swellings, Piles, Eczema, Boils, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Eruptions, Rheumatism, Gout should realise that lotions and ointments can but give temporary relief; to be sure of complete and lasting benefit the blood must be thoroughly cleansed of the impure waste matter the root cause of such troubles. Clarke's Blood Mixture quickly attacks overcomes and expels the impurities; that is why so many remarkable recoveries stand to its credit. Pleasant to take, and free from injurious ingredients.

WOMEN TOLD OF GREAT WORK BY SUNG ARTISTS

R. D. Abraham Lectures To Literary Department Of The A.W.C.

The work of Sung artists who told their message in a few simple strokes that were nevertheless magic and telling was described by Mr. R. D. Abraham yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the American Woman's Club Literary Department held in the hall of the Royal Asiatic Society.

In order that the audience might have an understanding of the influences that led to the artistic blossoming between 960 and 1120 A.D., Mr. Abraham described the progress made during earlier dynasties.

"The first dynasty about which we have any knowledge is the Chow," said Mr. Abraham. "Of course no painting of this period exists, but sacrificial bronzes indicate the civilisation of the time and show by their modeling, balance, and design a culture of high type. But greater than any art production of this age were the doctrines taught by Confucius and Laotzu, which were destined to play an all-important part in the life of the people of China.

CONFUCIUS PRACTICAL

"The teachings of Confucius gave very little inspiration to painting, as his doctrines were practical and showed small patience with mysticism. He concerned himself with strict social rules that stunted the imagination and did not give the spirit full sway. As a result, the paintings of the periods when those in power followed the teachings of Confucius were lacking in poetry and imagination and were treated in a manner that conformed strictly to the rules of propriety. This is true to a great extent, yet in the carrying out of its tenets of filial piety, self-restraint and self-sacrifice, the harshness was much softened.

"The other great teacher, Laotzu, was a mystic, and I believe that in his works China received her best art inspiration. In his writings are found wonderful passages concerning the mysticism of nature, and thoughts that are pure and lofty."

Mr. Abraham stated that as a whole Buddhism's influence on Chinese art was confined to the giving of themes, such as Kwanyin, the Goddess of Mercy and the Laughing Buddha. The Chinese painting of the Sung period, so often called Buddhist art, is really Buddhist subjects treated in a Chinese manner, based on the philosophy of Lao-tzu.

FOREIGN INFLUENCE SLIGHT

Foreign influence on Chinese art was small, though the speaker referred to certain Greek ideas that were carried by Alexander's forces to India and thence to China. They are manifested in the grape pattern, in the pegasus, in pottery urns, and in mortuary clay figures. Various Mohammedan devices are found in Chinese works of art, neatly and artistically worked on vessels for religious or ornamental purposes.

"Nature in its manifestations and phenomena was the subject which Chinese artists took as their ideal," Mr. Abraham said. "They heard eternal truths in the never-ending flow of a waterfall, and rugged rocks gave their message of power and strength. Powerful trees standing alone on a vast plain or gnarled tree-trunks had their message as well, for through them all the spirit of Supreme Power moved. If it were a man that they were painting, all detail of clothes and physique were as nothing to the strength of character seen in the face, eyes, and hands."

Mr. Abraham referred briefly to the beautiful potteries and to the exquisite leaf-green glaze developed in the Han period. He spoke also of the masterpieces of the Tang era, when the brush-strokes resembled sword cuts and when the coloring developed into a thousand exquisite tints.

"The more one looks at the art of the Sung period, the more one is convinced of the wonderful advancement in thought and ideals," the speaker said, "Individual painters had their own methods of treatment. Me-fei painted landscapes in which mist-scenes predominated; they are soft, appealing and have all the charm, freshness, and allurement of a misty morning. The chief point to emphasize is not the style of painting, but the artist's soul behind the work. Men left the world and went to the woods, where, amid pine trees and soft running water, they learnt as Anesaki said, that passion or even enthusiasm is an impediment to attainment, that reason is useless, and that the essential is intuition that illuminates the mind like a flash in the darkness.

STROKES MODULATED

"The strokes made by the Sung painters were wonderfully modulated, thus giving expression to work that was chiefly in monochrome. They were masters in the application of ink, and their paintings even to this day look fresh and lustrous. But the celestial artist was a great master of color also, and nothing can surpass the soft, warm tones of Sung colors, the rich, heavy pigments, being wonderfully blended and toned by age.

"The landscapes of Sung are famous for their portrayal of nature in her varying moods—a mist scene with its mystery and sadness; waving bamboos mist laden and bent, symbols of humility and purity; towering peaks, aspiring to the heavens; spiky pines that lifted their heads up to the light; rocks powerful and immovable, yet smoothed and rounded by the gentle stream."

Mr. Abraham described in detail a painting of a cataract indicating intensity and depth by its foam. Another painting by Mu-chi shows bamboos with the tops lost in mist, from which a crane is emerging.

"The Sung period produced great painters," said the speaker in conclusion. "These men lived spiritual lives according to the teaching of their ancients and gave the world a message, through their works of peace and spiritual calm."

At the conclusion of the talk, the Literary Department extended a vote of thanks to the speaker. Several beautiful Sung paintings belonging to Mr. Abraham were exhibited in connection with the talk, including two by the Emperor Hui Tsung.

TO STUDY LITERATURE

Mrs. H. A. Wilbur, chairman of the Literary Department, announced that the Program Committee is holding meetings to arrange the schedule for next year. The general subject will be Chinese Literature, and it has been thought best to study historical backgrounds and personages, beginning with the legendary and feudal periods. Members of the Department who would like to assist by reading on related subjects and meeting with the committee are asked to give their names to the chairman.

The next meeting of the Literary Department will take place on May sixth at the Royal Asiatic Society Hall, when Mrs. Fred Van Buskirk will read her paper on the Emperor Hui Tsung, postponed today on account of illness. Mrs. M. P. Dunbar will give a talk on "Ming Paintings."

Argentine Socialists Split On Program

(Reuter's Service)

Buenos Aires, March 1 (by mail).—The Socialist party of Argentina, like those of many European countries, has been split into two factions by the adoption at a recent party convention of a resolution not to give adherence to the Third International Congress of Socialists at Moscow.

Soon after the convention the executive council of the party began decreeing the expulsion of a large number of the extremist element, among them being the entire staff of the publication Claridad. Some of those expelled were members of various district committees, which thereupon resigned from the party in a body. Led by the Claridad, they are taking steps to organise as a separate body to continue their compaign for revolutionary action.

CAN BEE STINGS CURE RHEUMATISM?

A letter appeared some months ago in the leading English newspaper of Shanghai recounting how an elderly European, resident in China, had been completely cured of chronic rheumatism through being badly stung by bees, and the writer asked "Does the bee produce in his happy moods honey for our delectation and in his angry moods a cure for a distressing human ailment?"

No answer to this interesting query having since been published, it seems evident that other rheumatic sufferers in China and elsewhere have felt disinclined to test the old gentleman's remedy on themselves therefore the experience of an American lady, Mrs. Byra S. Noye, who lives at No. 3076, West 35th Avenue, Denver, Colorado, may interest them as indicating how cure is to be found in a much more agreeable and certain manner. Says Mrs. Noye:

"I developed rheumatism following exposure to a storm while I was in a badly run-down condition, and had severe pains from the tips of my fingers to the region of my heart. My hands swelled and there was a constant numbness in my fingers. My legs swelled and the joints became inflamed and throbbed with pain. Sometimes the pains almost disappeared but returned with increased fury. My back ached almost constantly and I became very nervous.

"I had heard of Dr. Williams' pink pills for years and decided to give the remedy a trial. In a week I felt somewhat better and was so encouraged that I continued the treatment. Slowly the swelling left my hands and legs and then the pain disappeared. I sleep well now, have a keen appetite and feel better than I have in a great many years. Dr. Williams' pink pills proved the very remedy I needed and I have recommended them to my friends."

If you are troubled by rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, or any other disorder due to vitiated blood or debilitated nerves begin your cure without delay by obtaining a supply of Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale people, the famous blood and nerve tonic, from your chemist, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai. Postage to your address is included in the price, $1.50 the bottle, $8.00 for six bottles.

Hughes Reaffirms His "White" Stand

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, April 26.—In a speech at a farewell dinner, prior to his departure for England which was presided over by the American Consul General, the Prime Minister, Mr. Hughes, declared that he did not believe that Americans seriously contemplated war with Japan and vice versa. He, at any rate, was certain that the British Empire was determined that there would be no war with either country. He affirmed the resolve that Australia should be reserved for white races. The Australians however, Mr. Hughes added, did not wish to give a pretext for offence to the other nations. They wished to live in peace and friendship with the Asiatic peoples.

Calls to forty-two fires occupied the Fire Brigade during the month of March this year, as against 17 for the corresponding month last year, according to the Chief Officer's report, published in the Municipal Gazette today. The value of the risk at loss is impossible to estimate at this time, it is stated, on account of the disastrous blaze in the silk godowns on North Soochow Road last month. Aside from this conflagration eight lives were lost in a fire at 728 Chekiang Road on March 31 and the Chief calls attention to the necessity for further precautions toward the protection of life, a factor which is ignored in even the majority of licensed premises in the Settlement.

A report of assault upon a foreign police constable by a Chinese member of the fire brigade was turned in Tuesday evening by Police Constable Pelling, of Sinza. The constable stated that he had gone into a tea shop on Avenue Road to stop a fight between two Chinese when one of the men, the fireman, turned upon him and tried to throw him to the floor. They fell and the fireman in falling struck his head and was cut over the eye. Police Constable Taylor and a Chinese P. C. assisted in separating the men and the fireman was brought to the station. The Fire Department is investigating.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ENGINEERING SOCIETY IS HELD

Report Shows Increase Of Membership And Sound Financial Condition

The annual general meeting of the Engineering Society of China took place on Tuesday at the Royal Asiatic Hall. The chair was taken by the President, Mr. I. Tuxford, and a representative gathering of members heard the delivery of the annual report. Reference was made therein to the very satisfactory session which the meeting concluded, and to the number and interest of the papers delivered.

The society's membership continues to show an encouraging increase, the total now being 269 members. The financial side having been dealt with Mr. Tuxford referred to the impending retirement of Mr. A. P. Wood and to his close association with the activities of the society.

In seconding the adoption of the report, Mr. C. H. Godfrey referred, in eulogistic terms, to the work of the honorary secretary of the society, Mr. C. S. Taylor, and Mr. Godfrey's remarks were supported by Mr. J. S. S. Cooper.

An amendment of the Society's Bye-Laws was moved by Mr. J. S. S. Cooper, whereby full freedom for the publication of the society's proceedings be accredited. This motion was supported by Mr. C. H. Godfrey and received the approval of the meeting.

Mr. A. P. Wood thanked the society for their expressions of good will and referred to the good work of Mr. I. Tuxford, the retiring president.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," & "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and, aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."
WM. J. MCCANN, M. D.,
Omaha, Neb.

"I object to what are called patent medicines, where the maker alone knows what stuff is put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine."

PROFESSIONAL BALL PLANNED BY JAPANESE

Yokohama Company, With Yen 100,000 Capital To Own Baseball Team

WILL TRAIN PLAYERS

International Contests Are Among Attractions To Be Made Possible By Promoters

The first attempt ever made in Japan to place baseball upon a commercial basis is being made by the promoters of the Yokohama Baseball Company (Kabushiki Kaisha Yokohama Yakyu Dan). The promoters are now seeking subscribers for that part of the capital stock of Y100,000 which they have not subscribed among themselves.

The object of the organisation, according to the prospectus, is to "lay out an ideal baseball ground and to hold matches of Japanese and foreign players, and to collect admittance fees with the object of realising reasonable profit so as to give suitable return to those who aided in the establishment of this company by the investment of their capital."

The prospectus also announces that "this company will also open a school for training players and professional baseball teams will be organised by drafting skilful players educated by this school. They will be dispatched not only to various parts of the interior but also to Manila, Shanghai, Hawaii and North America to hold games at these places, and the company will also invite foreign teams to play baseball games in Japan for the purpose of making profit by these means."

The promoters of the project, according to Mr. Makino of Yokohama, the chief organiser, include Mr. Y. Kushibiki, the Tokio promoter; Mr. Henry Kodani, a moving picture actor of Tokio; Mr. H. W. Coffey, secretary of the Nippon Race Club; Mr. K. M. Tresize Bagnall and Hillies, Yokohama; Mr. L. Stornebrink, Yokohama; Captain A. G. Stevens, Yokohama; and the following named Japanese of Yokohama: Doctor Kinuawa, I Shibata, U. Kameyama and T. Ikeda.,

GROUND IS SECURED

Arrangements have been made to secure 10,000 tsubo of ground at Gyomyoji, at the edge of Yokohama, where a diamond is to be laid out and a grandstand built. The promoters hope to get started during the present season, though not at full strength. They propose to have a league formed to play at Yokohama composed of a league team and amateur teams as follows: Tokio Denki, Chukwa (Chinese) Co., Jitsugyo, Kamakura, Ocean Shoyu, Minato and the Yokohama City Office.

One strong reason urged for the organisation of such a company is that the only public baseball ground in Yokohama is in the municipal park, which has not proper facilities for spectators and in which admission fees cannot be charged.

The diamond is available for all the amateur teams in the city (some 50 odd), but no money can be spent on bringing teams into the city because no income can be derived from the game.

The promoters of the baseball company hope gradually to build up a professional league, but for the present count on making money on the amateur or semi-professional teams and on foreign teams which come here. Two such are to come this spring one from California University and one from Leland Stanford University. They also count on using the grounds for other forms of athletics and for motorcar and motorcycle racing and shy other sports for which people will pay to watch.

TO MAKE ATHLETIC GOODS

As given in the articles of association, the objects of the organisation include even more than has been outlined, however. They are "renting of the baseball ground training of baseball players, holding baseball matches," and the "manufacturing selling, exporting and importing articles necessary for playing baseball and other games." The company in its estimated profits counts on earning Y10,000 a year from the sale of the articles manufactured or imported by the company.

The articles of association specify that the capital shall be Y100,000, "to be increased to Y1,000,000 when the business develops." This Y100,000 is to be expended as follows: rent of the play grounds (for one year), Y15,000; construction of a training school for baseball players, Y10,000; cost of laying out a baseball ground, Y50,000; furniture for the head office, Y5,000; organising expense, Y5,000; working capital, Y15,000.

COUNCIL GIVES AUTHORITY FOR OLYMPIC GROUNDS

Use Of Hongkew Park And Public Swimming Bath Is Allowed

The Shanghai Municipal Council has consented to the Olympic Games, organised under the auspices of the Far Eastern Athletic Association, being held in Hongkew Recreation Ground from May 30 to June 4 upon conditions similar to those approved in 1914, the necessary constructional work on tracks and stands being undertaken by the Association under the supervision of the Public Works Department.

The Council has sanctioned the issuance by the Association of tickets for reserved seats, on condition that they are not sold at the gates of the Park or on the Park Avenue.

The Council has also sanctioned the use of the Public Swimming Bath after 8 p.m. for swimming contests, the usual entry fee per person being payable to the Council.

The above is from today's Municipal Gazette.

Red Sox Depart For Sunny South

Boston, March 5.—The advance guard of the Boston Red Sox set out for the South today with the comments of fans on the transfer of Harry Hooper to the White Sox buzzing in their ears, and without the company of Stuffy McInnis, the holdout first baseman.

Manager Hugh Duffy headed a group of three recruits who formed the nucleus of the team that will train at Hot Springs. En route he said he expected to have John Collins, who with Namo Liebold comes to Boston in exchange for Hooper, join the team from his home in Pittsfield.

ROUGHTOWN MENU BEAT THIS BIRD

Didn't Have A Rabbit's Chance After A Nourishing Meal Of Stewed Hinges

BY 'BUGS' BAER

Mr. Editor:

I plugged for an old-timer who once waded around the old Loop under the name of Nine-Point Goodall. He used to shave with a red hot axe.

He was trimming Gink Fowler like a Christmas tree when Gink's gang sprung a trapdoor in the ring and allowed my protege to fall into a concrete mixer hidden there for no good purpose.

Yours for less wages,
SLIM COOLAHAND,
Chicago.

P. S.—I forgot to mention how Nine-Point got his name. He was a motorman. He used to loosen up the juice to nine points. And then throw the handle away.

Mr. Coolahand is wrong about that trapdoor. They did have a trap in the Roughtown ring. But only for tough cases. As a matter of fact, Nine-Point never got within extradition distance of the Roughtown champion. Nine-point started out like an early worm trying to catch the early bird by the beak. His first mistake was snooping into town on the Roughtown Railroad. After one lesson on that road you thought that a riot was a health resort. Nine Point's second boot was the choice of his training quarters.

He picked out the Roughtown Cafeteria de Luxe. That was a one armed lunch abbatoir built for righthanders. Goodall was a leftmitter. He got cramps in his elbow trying to put on the feed bag.

A SWELL MENU

The food, however, was the best they could find. Monday, shark's teeth; Tuesday, concrete-filled eclairs; Wednesday, fricassed lumber; Thursday, Portland cement waffles; Friday; cobbles en casserole; Saturday, T. N. T. soup. It was a quick lunch place. The insurance companies paid your widow the same day. They had a sign on the wall stating the manager was not responsible for hats, overcoats or endowment policies.

On the day of the fight, Nine-Point was so weak that all the buttons fell off his vest. The tickets were all in the hands of speculators, as nobody ever paid to see a fight in Roughtown. That would be like building a grandstand and charging admission to look at the sunset. Fights were community property in that model town. The meeting took place in the Rough-town Academy of Sciences and Home Brew. When the gong splashed, there wasn't a seat occupied in the entire hall.

The place accommodated 56,745 unpaid customers. But that night there wasn't one of 'em in a seat. The place was as barren as a picnic grounds on a rainy Tuesday afternoon.

Not a seat was loaded. The whole 56,745 spectators were in the ring waiting for their share of the fight to start!

ENOS IN FREE-FOR-ALL

Roughtown never did a thing by halves. Not even their grapefruit. The waiter who tried to cut a grapefruit on a Roughtown patron was liable to wake up with his thumbprints on the knob of the Pearly Gates.

Gink wormed his way through the crowd and sapped Nine-Point with an eloquent gesture on the nose. Nine-Point blinked his only blinkable eye and started bobbing for apples. Gink crossed him with a liberal donation of lefts. Nine-Point went south on a canvas excursion and started to look for four-leaf clovers.

Then the 56,745 put on the Roughtown wind-up. Everybody took a whapp at everybody else. The whole town fought for three days and then adjourned to buy flowers.

If you ever travel over the Lincoln Highway, you will notice that your allotment of punctures in the Roughtown sector exceeds the demand. For ten miles each side of Roughtown, the Lincoln Highway is paved with false teeth.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis esteo-periostitis, necrose is of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

APRIL 27, 1921

Spot and forward bar silver were unchanged in London yesterday. The New York price is also unchanged and the London-New York cross rate declined slightly to 395¼. The official rates here today were unchanged from yesterday and the market was very much along the same lines, being dull and lifeless throughout the day. Business in Sterling T.T. was done at around 3s. 4⅛d. and in Gold Dollars at 66½. Speculators were very little in evidence and there were again few bills offering. Extreme dullness seems to be the feature of all the silver markets of the world just now, advices received from London, New York and Bombay all being to that effect. With export business as it is and our large stocks of silver at hand here it is difficult to see how we can expect any higher rates for the time being.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their exchange circular for week ending Wednesday, April 27:

Exchange: — After slight fluctuations the London price of silver at 34⅝ is ⅛d. lower than last week. Our rate for T.T. on London has remained at 3s. 3d. throughout the week, the premium offered has however been easier at ⅛d. to 1⅛d. over official quotations, dependent upon speculative sales by our native gold dealers, who have again supported the market. General business, in connection with Imports and Exports has been small and we close steady.

Our stocks of Silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 40,510,000, a decrease of Tls. 970,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $35,700,000, a decrease of $540,000.

Estimated value in Taels Tls. 66,214,000 as against Tls. 60,397,000 held at this time last year.

The Reparations Crisis

IS the three days' time yet remaining before expiry of the Allied ultimatum to Germany on the baffling question of the reparations sufficient to enable the Allies and Germany to reach some basis of agreement which will render unnecessary the imposition of the penalties? Certainly the whole world will join in the earnest wish that if a basis of agreement is disclosed in the new proposals which we publish today, the wires will be kept sizzling between London, Paris, Berlin and Washington, for it may be taken for granted that no one wishes to see the Allies forced to the point of inflicting the proposed penalties. One shudders in contemplating the possibilities involved in a new clash with Germany, especially when the growing strength of the communists in Germany is considered. The Germans don't want communism but there can be no doubt that in their eyes some things are worse than the governmental program which communism, or sovietism, represents.

We shall have to wait for more light on the new German proposals before being able to discuss them fully, but it is plain from the brief Reuter's dispatch that Berlin is making a bold, eleventh hour effort to avert the impending calamity. And while there are difficulties in the way of Allied acceptance, the new offer seems to us to open a path to agreement. The main difficulty is that Germany proposes to float a huge international loan. Where is the money expected to be found? In America? Most likely. Certainly the bulk of it there. Again, the Germans declare that they are ready within the limits of their capacity to take over the debts owed by the Allies to America. This proposal has been made before in various forms. It was first made during the Versailles peace conference. It was rejected by America at that time and when brought up in a somewhat different form recently it was again tabled. It will be turned down once more. From the American standpoint there is no reason for it. It would simply mean that the United States instead of the Allies would have to collect the money from Germany. Germany owes certain sums to the Allies. Let them collect this money. The Allies in turn owe certain sums to the United States. They are expected to pay as they collect.

According to a recent exchange, the British gains as a result of victory in the war, in ships, colonies, protectorates, mandates and markets, are estimated to total about thirty billion dollars and the French gains are placed at twenty billion dollars. The national wealth of Great Britain has been figured at $130 billions, that of France at $92 billions, Germany's wealth after losing the war is rated around $80 billions.

So that there is plenty of money, for these estimates are based not on paper but on real values. The difficulty comes when we try to turn part of this wealth into some form for transferral to another country. It probably, the most of it anyway can only be transferred in the shape of goods. And if Germany for instance were to dump a couple of billion dollars' worth of manufactured goods in America, all lines of American industry would be hopelessly upset.

Another difficulty is encountered in the offer of Germany to send her artisans into France to rebuild the devastated area. France does not wish to see her own artisans deprived of this chance for employment. She does wish to see her own workers busily employed in this great task—with Germany paying them.

Some hope is derived from a late telegram from Washington. This says that at the invitation of Secretary of State Hughes, the Allied ambassadors in the American capital have held an informal discussion of the German note to us. After a general expression of views, it was indicated that the representatives of the Allies communicated with their governments and that the United States will not reply until the Allied governments are heard from. There is a chance here for developments which may lead the Allies to extend the period of the ultimatum which at present is fated to blow up on May First.

Peeping Behind The Veil

Four Books That Seek To Solve Mysteries Denied Us

The Problems Of Mediumship. By Allessandro Zymonidas. Published by E. P. Dutton & Co.

Birth Through Death. By Albert Durrant Watson, M. D., F.R.A.S.C., ex-president of the Association of Psychical Research of Canada. Published by the James A. McCann Company.

The New Light On Immortality. By John Herman Randall. Published by the Macmillan Company.

The Essentials Of Mysticism. By Evelyn Underhill. Published by E. P. Dutton & Co.

The seeker after information beyond life has to plow his way continually through just such a varied collection as these four books in order to find anything worth while. Ranging from an obscure, if not actually worthless, consideration of the occult in the first instance, the reader goes on to an amazing collection of messages and essays purporting to have come through from the spirits of celebrities of all ages from Confucius down to Elbert Hubbard, to a restrained appraisal of the value of psychic research, and finally to a scholarly estimate of mysticism.

Of the first, The Problems of Mediumship, little can be said except that it seems to be one man's opinion, possibly sincere enough, but certainly not of interest to the general reader. With so many clearly written books on the subject in existence, books which have a scientific or at least a logical foundation, the publication of this volume seems hardly justified, even though the original author was an unnamed "Venetian Jew, who traveled much, studied many subjects, practised medicine and made music his recreation," and left an enormous mass of manuscripts concerning his investigations on the occult planes.

BIRTH THROUGH DEATH

The way of the scoffer is, of course, the easiest way to evade mental effort and a cheap way of exhibiting one's own cleverness, but we hope we shall not be accused of such a low motive when we call attention to the fact that messages from fifty-five of the celebrities mentioned above in connection with Dr. Watson's book were received in two hours and ten minutes. The scrambling that must have taken place as the spirits crowded up to speak their little pieces in record time would have been unseemly on earth, where even the subway at rush hour has not accustomed us to the indignity which our ego suffers. We didn't think heaven would be like that, nor even the Twentieth Plane, 500 miles from the earth, on which these spirits are supposed to dwell.

Dr. Watson is a physician and a fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, and the Inner Circle to whom these revelations were vouchsafed consists of ten women and nineteen men, representing the average of intelligent humanity: professional men and women, business men, students, and even a Canadian Senator. The medium, or Instrument, as he is always referred to, is one Louis Benjamin, an American by birth, who has lived in Canada since his sixth year. His education consisted of a brief three or four years in school, and the book, of which the fifty-five messages are only a part, was transmitted through him during the week ends when he was not working. The communications were received while in a trance state and always in light sufficient for stenographers to take down the messages.

Barring A Little Journey to the Home of Jesus, by Elbert Hubbard—which lacks something of the descriptive quality of his earthly Little Journeys—nothing is revealed concerning the life of these spirits, and while most of the essays and messages are in character, there is a strain of similarity in style and content. Good advice is plentiful, but seldom goes beyond what any of the celebrities advocated on earth, and much of their messages fall below the records they left behind them, written or unwritten.

Occasionally the spirits view their lives on earth with remorse. Napoleon declares that his ambition was a serpent, and advises all who seek true greatness in history to be gentle men. He closes his essay with a paradoxical warning to all war lords and demagogues that "there is no satisfaction to be obtained from false ambition until the god of love is satisfied that you are no longer ambitious." Czolgolz has become a friend of McKinley's on the Twentieth Plane, but blames Old Europe for making him what he was. Judas Iscariot seems rather proud of the part he played in life and scorns condemnation except from the elect.

Ingersoll is a bit disappointing. He makes no mention of his agnosticism, but discourses vaguely of the new day. It may surprise some people that this day, lighted by the "rays of love, peace, equity ethics and common sense," has already dawned.

The message from Kitchener should dispose of the supposition that he is still alive. His interest in the empire still continues. He advises the state organisation of all industries and the mobilising of all trades and professions for the common good. If those are his views non-Bolshevik Britons probably will be quite content to hear that he is dead beyond a doubt and may piously hope that he stays dead.

Carnegie is still interested in libraries and invites every one to contemplate with him what a League of Nations liked with a world chain of his libraries means to the world. Sappho gives some of her lost fragments:

"The ocean with its ocean lips
Kisses the lips of the encircling sky," and goes on to quote "another little thing" she used to like. Lafcadio Hearn advises that Japan should be watched because "on a handful of rice per diem the Japanese can comprehend and exhaust Occidental knowledge." Stevenson confesses that he himself was Mr. Hyde, Lincoln advocates the eight-hour day, Savonarola tells why he was hanged—in excellent Billy Sunday style—and Oscar Wilde expresses his preference for purgatory, "the purple place of violets," rather than the hills of the saints.

Whatever the strain Birth Through Death puts on credulity, it makes interesting reading. The standing of the author and his followers makes the suggestion of deliberate fraud untenable, but the likelihood of unconscious fraud has not been disproved. A scientific investigation of unconscious frauds in psychic phenomena may result in the discovery of new mental powers far beyond those which are commonly utilised—a possibility which should encourage rather than discourage "revelations" like these.

NEW LIGHT ON IMMORTALITY

In The New Light on Immortality Dr. Randall takes the attitude of a student of psychic research. Psychic researchers fall generally into two classes—those who are convinced that the phenomena are genuine but are not as yet convinced as to the actual interpretation of those facts, whether due to psychic powers in man as yet undiscovered or to some discarnate intelligence, and those who have convinced themselves that they have found the truth, and on purely scientific grounds. In dealing with the subject Dr. Randal quotes Maeterlinck and James as representative of the first point of view and Sir Oliver Lodge and Hyslop as the chief exponents of the second class.

In the latter part of the book Dr. Randall discusses the ethical and social implications of psychic research and opens up thereby a new field of speculation. The materialistic reaction of the last half century, with its fear of hell fire and hope of heavenly reward thrown overboard, has threatened the extinction of the Christian ideal of the intrinsic worth of the individual, with his imperishable soul. No amount of sophistry or evasion, he says, can conceal how cheap is the estimate which, in practice, is put upon individual lives.

"Suppose," he remarks, "that it could be proven, not just believed vaguely, that the 'dago' and the 'hunkie,' as well as those who boast of their blue blood and culture, must go on after death and that the life there is lived in obedience to the great law of cause and effect, that what we sow here we must reap there? If this could be proven we should not only have the clew to the solution of the industrial problem, but of all our social and international problems of today."

ESSENTIALS OF MYSTICISM

The general theory and practice of mysticism and its application as seen in the lives and works of pagan and Christian mystics from Plotinus to "AE," the Irish mystic, is death with in The Essentials of Mysticism, by Evelyn Underhill.

Deploring the fact that the things of the spirit are ignored in our education today, the author says there is a common idea that the spiritual life means something pious and mawkish—not very desirable in girls and most objectionable in boys. She goes on to demolish this notion vigorously and points out the need of giving young people absolute rather than utilitarian values of life. The demands of the spirit are not satisfied by teaching the child any "series of religious doctrines divorced from practical experience, but by training his energies so that they shall attain their full power and right balance and enable him to set up relations with the spiritual world in which he truly lives."

Most of the essays contained in the book have appeared in English magazines and cover a period of eight years' thought. Simply and clearly written, they have an appeal for every one who has given even a brief thought to his spiritual welfare.

Does It Not Justify Individuals Of Low Scales Of Pay To Appeal For Higher Wages?

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: The above question is of no small importance and I am confident your readers will agree that at the present crisis the employers (I will not say all because many might already have done so) should direct their attention a little more to the study of salaries and expenditures and the high cost of living.

One correspondent wrote:—"I manage, nevertheless, to enjoy life immensely in the only way God ever meant man to enjoy it." Now, are we, of the lower scales of pay living according to the ordinary standard of living or are we merely carrying on life?

I do not envy and I do not grudge the well paid ones and I also do not wish to see them without their luxuries! But I certainly like to see them playing fair.

They are well paid but there is also one essential duty which they seem to neglect and that is to play the game, to allow those under them fair chance and to see that they are paid reasonably to live decently if not comfortably.

It is high time we investigated how really inadequate the lower scales of pay are for an ordinary but decent standard of living. Thanking you, Sir, for giving space for this letter, I am,

POORLY PAID.

Home And The Income

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

(An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Relating to Household Management)

How do you use your income? Do you make it cover your household expenses? Do you get the most for your money?

I know one woman who had two children who have since grown up and occupy positions with luxurious incomes. Her husband was an actor who played small parts. He was much away from home, but each week he sent the little family a postoffice order for twenty-five dollars. And, through good management, he had a home he was proud to bring folks to.

This woman had a set of envelopes, one was marked "Rent," another was marked "Food," again another was marked "Clothing." There were several other envelopes, each bearing some word to indicate the purpose for which the money was to go. On one of these there was the word "Savings," and once each month the envelope with the savings in it went to the town savings bank.

Not once in the twenty-five years of her married life did she find herself short. And yet the family had its ups and downs. There were months sometimes when the husband was idle. There was a reasonable amount of doctor and dental bills to be met. But the woman lived within her income and nothing could tempt her to incur a debt unless she was sure she could meet it.

Try this system: Plan your meals carefully. Go to market. Not only will you save time and energy, but you will get certain price concessions. Take the food money envelope to market with you.

In the clothing money envelope set aside so much each month, Winter and Summer. Then, when an expenditure is to be made, the money will be on hand.

IS YOUR NAME ROBINSON ?
By Frances Cowles

There is good reason to think that the Robinsons are a conservative, home-loving set of people.

They have always been patriotic and loyal, and Robinson is one of the most usual names in England.

The name is thoroughly British, being derived, of course, from the first name Robert or Robin.

By far the greater number of last names are formed in this way. Among the twenty most usual names at least seven are of patronymic origin—that is to say, they originally meant "son of"—Williams, Wilson, Jones, Thompson, Davis, Johnson and Anderson.

Two of those are derived from William, and two from John, with one from David, one from Thomas and another from Andrew.

Robinson and Robertson are the usual patronymic forms of Robert, a first name that is derived from the old Frankish "hruod," meaning spear, and "bjart," meaning bright.

ANOTHER FORD

It is not generally known that Henry Ford keeps a book in which are pasted all the many hundreds of different jokes that have appeared in the American and English newspapers concerning his cars.

So far from resenting these digs he rather welcomes them, and recently he himself told this one to the public, with the added comment that it was the best of the batch.

The head of a Government department at Washington (said Mr. Ford) wanted a car, and rang up the garage, where they were kept.

"Sorry," came the reply, "we have only a couple of Fords in now."

"All right, send one along. And I say, while you are about it, send a squirrel with it, will you?"

"Squirrel? What do you want a squirrel for?" asked the puzzled garage keeper.

"To pick up the nuts."

FIDO MAKES A FUSS.

David Belasco was once talking of the ridiculous attentions lavished on pet dogs by rich people. He told a story of his own experience.

"I went," he said, "to call on a friend of mine. When I had been there some time a pompous butler entered, and said to my hostess 'Did you ring, madam?'

" 'Yes, Harrison,' was the answer, 'I wish you to take Fido for a walk.'

" 'But Fido won't follow me, madam.'

" 'Then Harrison, you must follow Fido.' "

"Hatamen Magnum" Competition

2nd PRIZE

Mr. G. F. H. Bichard. 8 Carter Road. 280 words.

GENERALN EATN ESS PRIZE

whose list of 110 words was very nicely written for so young a competitor, and did not contain a single mistake—or blot.

Several lists were submitted with a larger number of words than the winning lists, but owing to mistakes, slips, use of wrong letters, use of more letters than the exact 13 contained in "HATAMEN MAGNUM," use of words which cannot be said to be "in use in the English language," and disregard of the simple rules laid down, we were reluctantly compelled to disqualify them in favor of correct lists, but we compliment the competitors on the diligence they displayed.

The word "MAGNUM" in "HATAMEN MAGNUM" refers to the size of this Cigarette, and Smokers will find it an excellent brand.

Attractions At The Theaters

Though London and New York seldom appreciate the same brand of humor, both cities laughed for months over "The Better 'Ole," to be produced tonight and tomorrow by the Bandman Opera Company at the Lyceum Theater. The play is a masterpiece of dry humor. Unless somebody has tampered with the original script, it is free both from vulgar lines and from ancient jokes culled from almanacs and delivered with the accompaniment of slapstick. Written by Captain Bairnsfather, whose cartoons lightened even the darkest days of the war, "The Better 'Ole" reflects the spirit of Old Bill who, in the midst of a bombardment, asked Alf to scare him because he had the hiccoughs.

On Saturday night the Bandman Company will present "Tails Up," a revue which ran 600 nights in London. Next Monday evening the company will move to the Olympic Theater in order to make room for the H. B. Waring Company which opens on Monday night in "The Witness for the Defense." During the coming week this company will produce six plays of a rather serious order, including "The Butterfly on the Wheel," "The Merchant of Venice," "A Marriage of Convenience," and "The Choice."

RUSSIAN OPERA COMPANY·

At the Apollo Theater, the Russian Light Opera Company continues its repertoire of old and tried favorites. There is no program for tonight, on account of the concert to be given by M. Podolsky, but tomorrow the company will appear in "The Geisha," on Saturday in "The Three Musketeers," and on Sunday in "Sylvia." Though the productions are given in Russian, the fact of a strange language does not necessarily mar the tunefulness of the musical numbers or the shapeliness of the ballet. Anyway even in English musical shows, the words are usually so garbled as to be unintelligible.

AT THE ISIS

The reputation of Orville as a clever weaver of illusions led to so many requests for a return performance that he will appear again at the Isis Theater on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights with a new array of puzzling tricks. Also on the program is Clara Kimball Young in "The Reason Why," the story of a conflict between love for husband and her child. Tonight's program at the Isis includes the two final episodes of "The Dragon's Net," a serial actually taken in the Far East, which tells the story of the search for two golden lotus petals sacred to the Taoists.

VICTORIA THEATER

Francis X. Bushman, adored by every cash-girl in America, is co-starring with Beverly Bayne in "A Pair of Cupids," shown tonight at the Victoria Theater. Next Friday, Saturday and Sunday the men will have their innings in a film, "How Could You, Jean?" with Mary Pickford in the leading role. Though Mary has been on the boards for nearly fifteen years now, her curls and smile show no signs of diminishing.

APOLLO THEATER

At the Apollo Theater, tonight Leo Podolsky, renowned Russian pianist and Mlle. Vera Mirova, an interpretive dancer, will give a program that promises to be extremely interesting. They have already made an extensive tour through the Far East, and met with great success in Hongkong and Canton.

SCOUT NOTES

The Scouts had another Surprise Turn Out on Tuesday of this week and it resulted in a very interesting evening for all concerned. The actual results are not yet to hand so the marks cannot be published. Judging from the keenness displayed at headquarters by all those scouts who reported, the competition for possession of the Rotary Club Shield is going to be one of the keenest struggles Shanghai has ever witnessed. In some Troops, in fact, this was so marked that the scouts in their excessive zeal so far forgot their usual tidiness that they turned up covered with mud, stockings down over their shoes, shirts all awry and with a general drawn-through-a-hedge backwards appearance; some forgot their staves and other parts of their uniform, and some even came unwashed and with dirty boots and buttons. Scouts should not forget that on these occasions marks are awarded not only for speed but also for neatness and smartness on parade. There were, on the other hand, many scouts who would have pleased the most fastidious Scoutmaster and these naturally carried off the highest marks for their particular troops.

Another point missed by a number of scouts in all Troops, more particularly the new recruits, was the method in which they addressed strange Officers. Every time a scout speaks to an officer he must add "Sir" to his words. If he does not he loses marks for his Troop. He should also stand to attention when speaking to, or when being spoken to, by any Officer, particularly when on duty like this. If he does not do it then it is most unlikely that he will do it when speaking in uniform to any lady or gentleman with whom he happens to converse. On all future occasions Troops will lose marks heavily when any scout forgets himself like this. Whether excited or not, scouts should always act in a gentlemanly and soldierly manner and it is only by this means that they may hope to bring the Shield, or any other honor, to their Troop.

Practice for the Jamboree proceeds apace and all Troops are looking forward to the day with eager anticipation. There will be special judges for each of the competitions and a list will be published shortly giving the names of those who will act in this capacity.

A new consignment of Scout Hats has been received at Silberman's which seem, at $2.00 each, to be cheaper than at any other place in Shanghai.

The usual bugle practice will take place on Tuesday next at 5:15 p.m. All buglers and drummers are to attend and those who wish to learn should parade. The District Scoutmaster will inspect the parade at 5:20 p.m.
